Description DR. MARTIN GOLDSTEIN D.V.M.

The results Dr Goldstein has achieved have been so astounding that today critically ill dogs and cats from all over the world have been brought to Smith Ridge Veterinary Center where doctors trained by Dr. Marty give these animals a new chance at life and health.

Dr. Martin Goldstein – (or Dr. Marty) is considered by many experts – and thousands of satisfied clients – to be America's foremost integrative veterinarian. Many people who arrive have exhausted all of the available conventional treatment options and are faced with a very sick pet that is only getting worse; others are true-believers in a integrative-only approach to maintaining their animal's health or treating their animal's malady. Regardless of their reason for seeking care, they usually receive a mind-opening education about natural health that many ultimately apply to their own lives as well as to the lives of their animal companions.

Integrative medicine does not truly define how Dr. Marty thinks about or practices veterinary medicine. The simple idea he has brought to the profession is the powerful curative effect of combining the best of both conventional and integrative medicine. The term used is “integrative medicine” where both types of therapies are combined in collaboration for health and against disease.

Dr. Marty did not invent integrative medicine. He arrived there through a melding of his veterinary training and early onset health problems of his own. A classically trained veterinarian who earned his DVM at the Cornell University College of Veterinary Medicine, a conventional school long recognized as one of the best, Dr. Marty’s interest in integrative medicine was sparked several years after graduation when a variety of his own personal health problems were finally resolved using a natural, non-toxic approach. It was this life-changing experience that led him to commit himself to mastering the art and science of integrating integrative methods of treatment with conventional veterinary medicine.

Dr. Marty’s years of intense study and experience, coupled with his uncanny sense of intuitively “knowing” what is wrong with the animal, have allowed him to master the art and the science of diagnosis and treatment. He has been able to categorize what has worked for the thousands of animals he has cared for through his book, The Nature of Animal Healing. And fortunately, for dogs and cats and the people who love them, he has been able to pass along what he has learned to pet lovers everywhere through his book and seminars.
